RICHARD HARKNESS

STATINTL

WATCHDOG PROPOSAL

RICHARD HARKNESS WAS SEEN ON THE TV SCREEN.

HARKNESS: "The sentiment is growing in Congress to appoint a watchdog committee to keep check on the CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY. Now in the past, CIA Director Allen W. Dulles, fearing leaks of information, held off such action, partly at least because President Eisenhower also was against it. But this evening a check shows this, that when he was a Senator, now-President Kennedy supported the watchdog proposal."
